

The Graduate Scholarship Program for Faculty Members from Neighboring Countries

Founded in 1917 by H.M. King Vajiravudh (Rama VI), the university was named after his father, H.M. King Chulalongkorn (Rama V), for it was during his reign that modern education took root in Thailand.

Recognizing the importance of internationalization, CU has taken a leading role in implementing interactive collaboration with the international community. In order to further develop academic cooperation between Thailand and its neighboring countries, the University has established a "Scholarship Program for Neighboring Countries" to provide academic assistance to faculty members from Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar and Vietnam to pursue their studies at Chulalongkorn University at graduate level.
